Rights and Sight for Children

Announcing DCI's 2017 Youth Awards

Distressed Children & Infants International (DCI) invites all motivated youth to apply for any of the following awards. The deadline for all applications is September 13, 2017. Winners will be recognized and awarded at DCI's 6th International Conference on Child Rights & Sight at Yale University on October 14, 2017. For more information and to apply for an award, please visit our website: www.distressedchildren.org/conference

Youth Leadership Awards

The DCI Youth Leadership Awards recognize and reward selfless young individuals whose remarkable acts of service at the local or global level show their dedication, leadership, and compassion for the less fortunate. Youth between the ages of 10 and 21 from any country whose service has made extraordinary contributions to the lives of others are encouraged to apply. Prizes will be awarded at the conference.*

Essay Competition

DCI's Child Rights Essay Competition is held to create greater awareness of child rights among children throughout the world and encourage critical thinking about global issues. Contestants from Grade 5 to college/university from any country are encouraged to submit an original essay focusing on problems affecting children across the globe and how these problems can be solved. Prizes will be awarded at the conference to winners in each of three age categories.*

Photo Competition

DCI's Child Rights Photo Competition encourages youth and adults to use images to spread awareness of child rights and the problems affecting children worldwide. Photographers of all ages from any country are encouraged to submit an original photo to the competition. Prizes will be awarded at the conference to winners in each of four age categories.*

**Winners must be present at the Conference on Child Rights & Sight on October 14, 2017 to receive a monetary prize. Those who cannot attend will receive a certificate by mail.*
